

Welcome to Madrid

This is the perfect place for anyone who's tired of menus where you never know what you're ordering, or of restaurants where you can't eat anything you've ever heard of.

This venue serves traditional dishes in a modern, pleasant atmosphere. Meat balls with white rice, Russian salad and offal, a delicacy that nouvelle cuisine has overlooked. Not to mention the star options on the menu: spoon dishes. Butter beans, lentils, tripe and chickpea stew.

It is an establishment with three floors located in Paseo de la Castellana, 254, next to the new business complex C.T.B.A., formed by the four towers of the Castellana.
