

Welcome to Madrid

Born in Venezuela but Spanish at heart; educated in Milan but admired worldwide. Hannibal Laguna chose Madrid as his residence in 1998, year in which he opened an atelier in El callejón de Jorge Juan where he has all of his haute couture, prêt à porter, jewellery and complement collections.

This designer's boutique is a 500-square-metre open-plan space featuring a minimalist aesthetic studded in chocolate tones, creating the perfect atmosphere to enhance any of his garments. Amongst these, his eveningwear and cocktail dresses are noteworthy, with a timeless, seductive, sophisticated and feminine touch which has already charmed many unconditional customers, amongst which we can find celebrities such as Naomi Campbell or Paz Vega.

Another one of his proposals is the line for grooms: while brides have the possibility of getting their dress tailored at the shop, as well as at any of Pronovias' stores, grooms must go to one of the stores of the brand Protocolo, distributors of formalwear created by Hannibal Laguna.
