

El Ganso (Jorge Juan)

When you walk into El Ganso you get the feeling you're in London. The clothes, both men's and women's, have a distinct English style, featuring check and rhombus patterns, especially in the winter fashions: coats, trousers, jackets and jerseys. In summer bright colours predominate, especially red, white, blue and pink.

As you would expect, the styles are elegant, modern, young and fashionable. And totally British, of course. Expensive but good quality garments in a style that is really different from other fashionable clothes. The firm has another shop in Calle Fuencarral but needed one in the Salamanca district.
