Mad Cool Festival was awarded the NME Award for Best Poster of the Year 2018 by the British magazine NME, one of the most prestigious in the sector, for a poster that included artists such as Pearl Jam, Arctic Monkeys, Depeche Mode or Queens of the Stone Age.

Mad Cool emerged from the concept of regeneration, becoming an alternative of content and form, a proposal for a society that has evolved towards innovation, quality and efficiency. It goes beyond the typical music festival and elevates the idea of shared leisure by proposing a new model in which the city and the environment are allies.
