

Welcome to Madrid

Right in the heart of Madrid we find this store, the largest in Spain in an urban area, owned by the famous German chain. As part of its drive to trade in one of the city's most commercial areas, it has set up shop alongside other firms and businesses present in Spain's golden mile of consumer electronics.

The store covers an area of 2,500 square metres, spread over two floors, seeking to offer customers a more approachable experience that meets their needs. 35 screens in different formats, dotted throughout the store, project information about the products and services on offer.

There are also special areas to try out and handle the electronic products, making this the firm's most digital and experiential outlet, along with the Digital Store in Barcelona.
