

Paraíso Festival

Another festival which sets out to be a combination of electronic music and other artistic genres and expressions. The event is intended to be a new festival model that is more convenient, uncrowded and located in a green area close to the city centre.

It is a sustainable and comfortable festival with 3 different stages: the main stage, a dance floor and another stage hidden in the woods. There will also be resting areas, art installations, a gaming area for videogame fans and a food court with healthy food.

The festival will limit the capacity at 15,000 people a day which will help the audience to appreciate the experience fully, without overcrowding, enjoying this creative festival that combines nature and art with the best of electronic music.
