

Welcome to Madrid

After the success on their world tour, Snow Patrol announces the new dates and Spain is among them. The Irish band will present their first album after seven years titled Wilderness. The critics agree that it is one of their best records yet.

Since their debut in 1998 with Songs for Polarbears Snow Patrol has had huge hits and big commercial success. The song Chasing Cars launched them to stardom thanks to appearing in the show Grey's Anatomy. They have sold more than 15 million albums and had more than a billion streams, five platinum albums in the UK and several Grammy, Brit Awards and Mercury Music nominations.

After their Fallen Empire tour in 2012, the band decided to take a well-deserved break. After a 6-year-long break, the band comprised of the multi-instrumentalist and singer Johnny McDaid, the guitarist Nathan Connolly, the bassist Paul Wilson and the drummer Jonny Quinn is back with their latest album Wildness.

The band confirms that the break has helped them charge their batteries and find inspiration for the new record. They wrote amazing songs they will play for their Spanish audience together with their old hits.
